Afternoon (*Weight is limited to 225 lbs)

Let your spirits run free as the team heads to Coquino Beach for a 1-hour horseback riding experience* that is more than meets the eye. These majestic creatures are not the wild Spanish horses you will find in Corolla, they are gentle steeds that have been rescued and given a new lease on life. Rather than being put out to pasture, they enjoy taking you for a canter on the beach as the waves crash at the surf.

You'll follow that up by climbing just over 200 steps to the top of Bodie Island Lighthouse, one of the sentinels of the "Graveyard of the Atlantic." The vast natural vistas span miles across the Cape Hatteras National Seashore including the Oregon Inlet, the Atlantic Ocean, and the Pamlico Sound. (Visitors with heart, respiratory, or other medical conditions should climb at their discretion)

Lunch is a short walk from your beach cabana at Hurricane Mo's Beachside Bar and Grill. Built on family recipes, this scratch kitchen serves elevated beachside eats. They serve the freshest seafood thanks to their long-term relationship with Ethridge Seafood out of Wanchese.

Afternoon

There's been a Mutiny on the Lark and you have to join forces and collaborate as a team to determine how to regain control of the ship. The captain left a trail of clues to test your wits in this pirate-themed Escape Room.

As the afternoon comes to a close, join the crew of the Downeast Rover and experience the natural splendor of a sunset cruise out of the Shallowbag Bay. A poll conducted by USA Today determined OBX was voted the 5th best location to watch the sunset in the United States. After experiencing a sunset from the poop deck of a 55' topsail Schooner with a glass of champagne, those voters may want to reconsider.

Dinner

Your last dinner will embody the relaxed coastal vibes of the Outer Banks. Mimi's Tiki Hut overlooks Pirate's Cove Marina in a casual tropical atmosphere. You will already be missing the Outer Banks once you experience the true sea-to-table dining experience provided by Blue Water Grill and Raw Bar.
